CHAIR ROUND UP

February has been a short month, with only 3 weekend's of matches, but we have faired well, winning over 50% of the matches played.

We now enter into the last month of matches, and it's all to play for. The M1's are in best contention for promotion, securing that 1st placed spot is the only guarantee of promotion, second place is reliant on the filtering of teams in the leagues above. We're all behind you lads!

The W1's and M2's are sitting in 3rd and 4th respectively, and if winning continues and results go our ways, you never know.....

W2's have settled well into their new league and will finish a very respectable mid-table. With our W3's and M3's growing in strength and depth and setting themselves up for a successful season next year.

Bingo was a great success, and loads of fun, who knew there were so many crayons in a pack, and that the men look great as traffic cones!

Good luck for all the final matches of the season.

Kerri

FROM THE SIDELINES

Why Hockey is better than football.

1/ While watching a midweek Premier League match there was an incident I really didn't like; it was after 30 seconds of the game where a linesman flagged a player for offside and I saw on the replay the player giving the official a bunch of abuse for giving the decision – which was correct. What is acceptable in football is not in hockey and the game is so much better for it.

2/ Point 1 leads to my second thought. If there are club supporters at hockey they are expected to be respectful to the oppo and the umpires. As are the support staff on the bench. The captain on the pitch is ultimately responsible for their conduct to the officials and overall behaviour.

3/ Winning the league title on corners is a narrative being pushed by certain section of the media this season – in hockey an efficient penalty corner routine is admired and not condemned as “Boring”

4/ Not retreating. Deliberate foul. Giving a bit back to the umpire. Subtly moving the ball from where the free kick was awarded. Time wasting. Feigning injury. In football this is celebrated as good tactics and being game smart. In hockey this is celebrated by waving a piece of coloured plastic at the player.

5/ Rolling Subs. All on or off at the half-way line and at certain times. The game continues. Get it wrong and the officials clamp down straight away. In football the game stops and nobody is quite sure how much time is lost or added on at the end.

6/ VAR. In football everything is checked, the game is stopped whilst the officials in the booth try to suck the joy out of watching football. In hockey if you don't like a major decision it can be appealed and the review is player (or rarely) umpire initiated. A bad appeal means your chance to review is gone for the rest of the game. So much better than football.

Hope my rant makes it past the HHC Mag moderator!
